Is In
On All of the Action

Get ready sports fans. Scott has been hired to host two programs associated with these legendary basketball and football events.

The first is for the Buick and GMC Sales Meeting, whose representatives are diligently planning a sales contest with the Final Four in mind.

And the second is for the T-Mobile NFL Draft Party. Taking place at the T-Mobile Arena in Kansas

Scott Emcees Awards and Facilitates CSR Team-Building Activity for a Breakthrough Pharmaceutical Company

It's not everyday that one can get on the ground floor of a new, breakthrough pharma company destined to change the way medicines treat people. So Scott was extremely honored to be invited to help make one of their first awards ceremonies a memorable event.

Held in Phoenix AZ, Scott opened the awards program with business-specific comedy and performed interstitial pieces throughout the presentation to help maintain interest and momentum among the audience of 500 sales representatives.

Scott also facilitated a philanthropic

City, it's a celebration for the T-Mobile winning teams and a homage for Super Bowl LVII winning Champs. Word has it that some key players from the Kansas City Chiefs will be on hand to talk about the draft with Scott as it goes live.

team-building activity designed to support the kids and the elderly of a local community in need.

According to the show's producers, Scott was the perfect match for an organization looking to transform the lives of people restricted by disease or... by social circumstances; because Scott's performance metaphorically illustrated the power of transformance. And in this case, he turned an ordinary awards event into an extraordinary one.
